The Connection Of Opposition

Life itself are experiences of duality and opposition or negativity. All having the "feeling" in the appearance of separation. In truth or actual reality, everything is connected in some way.
A magnet has a north and a south. A positive and a negative. The flow of energy from the north side of a magnet flows through the south on "one" magnet.
A connection of opposition.
When you take two separate magnets, apart from each other, again, the flow goes from the top of magnetic north through the "space" and into the south connecting the opposing forces, but with a continuous flow of energy flowing completely through the north and into the south, or positive and negative through the magnets. That is when you know the actual north and south of the magnets. When your vision of the opposing positive and negative is correctly "seen" or "placed", there is that "positive" flow of energy that completes the connection science of workings of a magnet.
The same principle can be seen with Creation. When you don't understand how opposing forces work, the flow of positive and negative (energy), you end up with repelling energy forces. A misunderstanding in the mind.
You may understand the positive flow (goodness-love) from the north, but not the negative (evil-errors) of the south; creating opposing forces and no connection or flow of understanding. Not seeing or understanding in the purpose and relationship to the oneness-connection of God-Creation. After all, its his Creation and His total control. Define faith and trust in its depths and not superficially or putting some kind of limitations on God and His Grand Design and Control.
